

Northern Ireland Youth Forum

The NIYF took a different approach to bringing old and young together by looking at the attitudes towards the need for a NI Bill of Rights. A debate on this was held in the Linenhall Library with guest speakers for and against a NI Bill of Rights, Jeffery Donaldson being one of these. The debate went reasonably well however the planned workshops due to take place before the debate were not held and therefore relationships between the two age groups were given little chance to establish.
